Illinois Central Express Hits
Street Car on Parkway
Grade Crossing.

WOMEN ARE TRAMPLED BY MEN

Wild Rush for the Doors Is Made as

Upon Doomed Car—Pinned
Down by Seats.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—Thirty persons were injured, three women probably fatally, when an east-bound Addison suburban express train on the Illinois Central railroad struck and overturned a crowded La Grange trolley car at Parkway, a suburb twelve miles west of Chicago.

Five women were taken to the Illinois Central hospital at Twelfth street and Michigan avenue in a special train. Three of them may die.

The seriously injured are:
Mrs. Anna McGuire, thirty-nine years old, 825 Sedgwick street; internally injured, cut on face and arms, and severe body bruises.

Mrs. H. Race, forty-two years old, who lives in Congress park; internally injured and cut by glass.
Miss Clara Baake, nineteen years old, 44 Burlington avenue, La Grange; a telephone operator; probable injuries to her spine, deep cuts on her neck by glass.

Mrs. S. S. Rollins, 4408 Michigan avenue; internal injuries and cuts and body bruises.

Mrs. Emma Koehler, forty-two years old, 525 West Sixty-fifth place; a nurse; cuts on head and body bruises.

A special train carrying physicians and nurses under the direction of Dr. W. M. Harsha, chief surgeon of the Illinois Central hospital, was sent to Parkway, where the women who were the most seriously injured were given attention and then taken to the company hospital.

Chaos Follows Crash.
The La Grange car was midway across the Illinois Central tracks forty feet from the Parkway station of the railroad when the express train crashed into it. The car was thrown against the station platform and overturned. The thirty passengers, most of whom were women, were buried beneath the seats, which were torn loose by the force of the collision.

Men fought and struggled to reach the doors and windows and effectually barred the escape of the women passengers, according to statements made by the injured women. Many of the women remained pinned to the floor of the car until the crew and several men who crawled through the windows returned and rescued them by prying away the wreckage.

Anna McGuire was the only passenger on the Illinois Central train injured. She was thrown against a seat and made unconscious.

The motorman of the La Grange car had waited until the conductor signaled him to go ahead after jumping to the crossing. With the express train less than fifty feet away, and slowing up for the stop at Parkway station, the interurban car was started toward the crossing, according to the injured passengers.

Train Crashes Into Car.
When it was half way across the track it was struck by the express train, traveling at an estimated speed of twenty miles an hour.

C. O. Chandler, telegraph operator for the Illinois Central railroad at Parkway, heard the screams of the women and the crash as the car hit the platform and telegraphed word of the wreck to the Illinois Central hospital.

While the special train carrying nurses and physicians was speeding toward Parkway the crew and passengers of the express train worked with the crew of the wrecked interurban car to rescue the women from under the wreckage of seats and wood-work.

TAKE UP SCHOOL DUTIES.

Misses Anna and Edna Carpenter will leave Saturday for New York. Miss Charlotte leaves today for Colorado and Miss Emma will take up her residence in North Dixon. The young women will return to their school duties after a pleasant holiday here with many old friends. They have rented their house to Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Smith.

FUNERAL OF MISS KATHERINE REYNOLDS

MANY TRIBUTES PAID TO BEAUTIFUL LIFE PREMATURELY ENDED.

The funeral of Miss Katherine Reynolds, held this morning at St. Patrick's church, was attended by a very large number of the friends of the young lady, whose death has brought sorrow to all who knew her. A profusion of floral tributes to the deceased's beautiful life marked the sad rite, and Father Foley's sermon, pronounced during the requiem high mass was an emotion-fraught effort. The remains of the young lady were borne to their last resting place at Oakwood by the following pall bearers: Henry Cavanaugh, John Reilly, Maurice Edwards, Gerald Riordan, Joseph Barry and John P. Devine. Six young ladies, intimate friends and associates of Miss Reynolds, officiated as honorary pall bearers: Misses Marie and Helen Gorham, Dora O'Malley, Hazel Kenneth, Mary O'Donnell and Ruth Carney.

A. E. PIPPERT DIED AT 12:50 TODAY

NORTH DIXON RESIDENT PASSED INTO BEYOND AFTER SEVERAL MONTHS' ILLNESS—FUNERAL MONDAY.

A. E. Pippert, a well known and greatly loved citizen of Dixon, died today at 12:05 o'clock at his home at 507 East Morgan street, after an illness of several months. He had been afflicted with tuberculosis of the throat, but had been up and around until about two weeks ago.

Mr. Pippert was born in Hessen, Germany, 48 years ago the seventh of last April. He came to America when 17 years of age and settled near Ashton, Ill. Twenty-three years ago he was united in marriage to Ida Zopf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Zopf of Bradford township. The couple came to live in Dixon soon after that.

Mr. Pippert was employed at the Gonnerman undertaking rooms for several years, but during the latter part of his life has been in business for himself, being a building contractor. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife and one son, Charles, who lives at home. There is also one brother, Fred C. Pippert, at Blue Island, Ill., and two sisters and one brother in Germany. Both parents are dead.

A. E. Pippert was a kind and pleasant neighbor and good citizen and his loss will be felt keenly by the many friends who loved him.

The funeral will be held Monday at 2 p. m. from the late home and interment will take place at Oakwood cemetery, Rev. F. D. Altman officiating.

GOOD MUSIC TOMORROW.

One of Jacques Mendelssohn's daintest compositions, "Specially Jim," the words of which were written by Bessie Morgan, will be published by the Telegraph tomorrow evening.

GREAT "EATS" & FUN ON WATSON ISLAND

VAUDEVILLE AND WRESTLING
MATCHES WILL HELP
AMUSE.

THOUSANDS OF POUNDS OF GOOD FOOD

The Attendance Will Be Way Over
Last Year and the Food Will Be
All Needed—Read the Bill of Fare.

The list of provisions for the big New England barbecue and chicken fry to be given by the Elks at Watson's island Monday resembles the invoice of the commissary of some big army, for here are the things the committee has ordered for the day's "eats":

600 chickens
600 pounds of steer
400 pounds of pork
400 pounds of Rock river catfish
25,000 clams
300 pounds of boiled ham
5 barrels of sweet potatoes
10 barrels of Irish potatoes
100 pounds of brick cheese
20 gallons of pickles
120 gallons of clam chowder
60 gallons of cabbage salad
400 dozen ears of sweet corn.

Will All Be Needed.
And the indications are that every bit of the eatables will be needed, for the weather man has been "fixed" and he has promised the very best kind of weather for the affair. As a result of the exceptionally good time had at last year's clam bake and the boosting that event received from the out of town guests, there is no doubt the attendance this year will be almost twice what it was last year. The lodges which sent no one last year have notified Mr. Miller that they will be well represented, the last word being received from Moline, from which city twenty have signified their intention of coming. There was no one here from Moline last year.

The grounds committee today had all of the big tents pitched, and as the platforms, etc., had been erected earlier in the week, everything is now attended to with the exception of getting the crowds and the "eats" on the grounds. A final meeting of the committee will be held this evening, at which time the reports will show that every detail has been attended to. There are still some tickets out that Mr. Miller requests members report for by Saturday night. In the meantime those who desire to attend the affair, who have not secured tickets, will do well to see some Elk friend at once.

A Busy Day.
The day will be a busy one, as the committee has arranged so there will not be a single dull moment. Jack and Bill Ryan, a high class vaudeville team, proficient in song, dance and sketch work, has been secured to give three appearances, and a delectable act will be given each time. The program for the day is:

9 a. m.—Assemble on grounds.
9:30—Concert by Marquette Orchestra.
11:30 to 12:30—Dinner.
12:30—Jack and Bill Ryan.
1 to 2—More eats and music.
2:30—Jack and Bill Ryan.
3—Wrestling match. One preliminary.
3:15—Wrestling match. Ted Tonnerman of Chicago and Young Beall of Omaha, for welterweight championship of the middle west. Best two in three falls. Strangle hold barred.
4:30—Jack and Bill Ryan.
5 to 6—Concert by Marquette Orchestra.

Of course there will be plenty to eat at any time during the day, and it will be as plentiful as campaign literature.

"REPUBLICAN DAY" AT STREATOR

A number of local republicans have received notice of a big "Republican" day at Streator, Sept. 11, and it is possible that several of the Dixon party workers will attend. Gov. Deen, Attorney General Stead and others of the state ticket will be there, and ex-Senator Billy Mason, who is a candidate for congressman at large, will also be one of the speakers.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Aug. 30.—Special to Telegraph—The passenger steamer Lakewood is reported to be sunk at White Fish Point and great excitement has been aroused here by the non-arrival of the boat, which is long overdue.

Searching ships have been sent out to look for wreckage and to rescue passengers if possible. The fate of the passengers of whom there were many on board, is unknown.

STEPHENSON IS BETTER.

Escanaba, Mich., Aug. 30.—Special to Telegraph—Reports received here today from the northern woods, where United States Senator Stephenson was reported to be severely ill, in an isolated part of the territory, say that his condition is not serious.

He has been suffering from acute indigestion and a bad cold, says the message. The train carrying doctors is reported to have arrived at his camp.

COLLEGE TO OPEN SEPT. 3

MANY IMPROVEMENTS MADE—
INSTITUTION'S ROLL CALL IS DOUBLED.

Dixon college students returning next Tuesday for the opening of the 1912-13 term, will hardly recognize the surroundings at the institution. For Prof. Edwards has made some praiseworthy improvements on the grounds and equipment of the school. New carpets have been placed in the ladies' dormitory, new furniture has been added to many of the rooms, and the grounds and campus have been filled in, new sidewalks have been built and in fact the place has never presented so pleasing an appearance.

In conversation with a Telegraph reporter this afternoon Mr. Edwards said he was not boasting one bit when he said the college would open with twice the number of students that answered the roll call the first day of the last term. And according to the president's sanguine views the enrollment this year will be over twice that of last.

Pupils from a distance have arrived already and it is expected that many more will be here before Tuesday morning.

TO NAME CONGRESS- MAN-AT-LARGE

H. L. FORDHAM ATTENDS STA-
COMMITTEEMAN MEETING
TODAY.

H. L. Fordham went to Chicago this morning to attend a meeting of the state progressive committee. It is probable that at this meeting two candidates for congressman-at-large will be selected, and Mr. Fordham was convinced that Attorney E. Erwin of this city would be the men selected.

CHARLES LOWERY

Charles Lowery returned here last evening from a very busy engagement of two months' operatic tour at Chautauqua. His orchestra consists of about twenty members, coming from all parts of the country and one must be a competent musician in a given eligible. Mr. Lowery will play the home for a few weeks and will give his concert tour with symphony orchestra. He is pained home by his friend, of Youngstown, O., here for a few days.

START FOR RACES BUT HAVE TROUBLE

DIXONITES GET AS FAR AS RO-CHELLE ON TRIP TO ELGIN.

MANY DIXON PEOPLE WENT TODAY

Race Course at Elgin Will Be Center of Motor Interest and Thousands of Car Loads of People Spin Toward It.

W. H. Lenox and Arthur Miller started for Elgin in an automobile this morning. It was their intention when they left Dixon to get to their destination in time to witness the automobile races. But Rochelle must have had "charms" to them, for a telephone message from that city brought the information that they were stopping there for some time, and asked that a crank shaft be sent to them at the earliest possible moment. From which one might draw the conclusion that something must have happened to their automobile.

DIXON PEOPLE GO.

Among the Dixonites who motored to Elgin today to see the automobile races were Lee Brierton, Stuart Nettz, Fred Salzman, Ned Tippet, Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gossman and Harry Seckman.

Many Cars Pass Through.

Hundreds of automobiles, bearing pleasure seekers who want to see the great races at Elgin, passed through Dixon this morning, some of the cars going through as early as 2 a. m. From then until 10 o'clock cars passed through the business part of the city every few minutes, there being automobiles from Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska, in addition to a large number from Illinois cities west and southwest of Dixon.

MYSTERY IN STRANGE NOTE

STERLING WOMAN TELLS HUSBAND IN NOTE SHE WOULD SUICIDE.

HUSBAND DOUBTS ACID STORY

Mrs. Jake Walter Leaves Sample of Acid She Says She Took, But Husband
Thinks She Has Merely Gone Away.

Sterling Gazette: Did Mrs. Jacob Walter commit suicide

Wednesday evening when Mr. Walter arrived home he found a bottle partly filled with carbolic acid and beside it a note written by his wife, declaring that she had ended her life and asking forgiveness.

Some Family Trouble.

Mr. Walter is employed by W. F. Lipp, and when he arrived home Wednesday evening he found the following note:

"Dear Jake: When the acid I have taken takes effect, I will be dead. It is some of the acid in that bottle and you can take the acid to a doctor if you want to.

The members of the family drove to it. Please forgive me, Jake, goodbye.

When seen Mr. Walter stated that there had been some family trouble, but he seemed to doubt that his wife had committed suicide, but believes she has disappeared.

Will Not Take Her Back.

He was asked if his wife returned and if he would take her back and stated that he had been married year and a half and would not live with her again. He thought that a native of his wife, who resides on 14th avenue, had caused all of the trouble.

Sample of Acid.

When seen Mr. Walter stated that he did not understand why his wife had a sample of the acid that she intended to use to kill herself. Jake said he found the acid poison—all right, but he is angry because wife acts so peculiarly.

WOULD GO IN SPECIAL TRAIN.

N. H. Jensen, one of the state committee on arrangements for the big state Knights Templar convocation, is trying to make arrangements for a special train over the Northwestern for the members of the Dixon, DeKalb, Belvidere, Sycamore and Sterling commanderies. He will make a personal visit to each of these cities and has confidence that he will succeed.

MADE POOR SHOWING.

After finishing sixth in the first two heats of the 2:12 trot at Readville, Mass., yesterday Marigold, the former Dixon mare, was drawn.

Dr. and Mrs. John McGinnis and family of Aurora are visiting at the home of the doctor's father, M. McGinnis of this city.

Louis Reese and P. C. Wagner of Viola township were visitors in Dixon today.

Mrs. Henry Schwenkey and daughter of Davenport are visiting at the J. J. Daunter home.

BENCH AND BAR ON TRIAL, SAYS TAFT

President Says Changes in Constitution Should Be For the Better.

WILSON MAKES OPENING TALK

Democratic Candidate Urges Open
Tariff Door in U. S.—Prices Will Rise if Markets Are Not Thrown Open, He Says.

Columbus, O., Aug. 30.—"The bench and the bar of this country are on trial today," said President Taft during his address at the banquet given in his honor by the bench and bar of Ohio, a feature of the Ohio-Columbus centennial celebration.

"The reasons to me are unjust," continued the president.

"It is said we are not progressive enough; that we don't move toward social justice and that we are constantly imposing limitations on the Constitution that prevent the development of humanity; that we are 'old fogies'.

Judges and Lawyers Differ.

"Judges and lawyers differ on questions of political economy and social questions, and it may be that some courts have taken a different view from that which so-called reformers like to take.

"It is true that courts set their faces against progress of the kind that is now being made under the pretense of paternalism.

"There might be considerable justice in a claim of too much expense and too great delay, but it takes time to work out a remedy and it will become a political aspirant to use these things to hasten himself into office.

No Change in Constitution.
"There should be no change in the Constitution until we are certain such changes will be for the better.

"It has been charged that I have too much of the judicial in my makeup, but I want to say that most of my experience as an Ohio lawyer has been wiped out since I left the state."

Governor Harmon of Ohio, introducing President Taft, said that the president's training as an Ohio lawyer thoroughly grounded in him two fundamental principles—first, to be no respecter of persons; second, to obey and respect limitations of the law, no matter what his individual notions may be.

President Taft returned to his summer home at Beverly, Mass., this morning.

After declaring she wished to give President Taft a "sacred knife," a woman, believed to be insane, was arrested here as she tried to enter an elevator with the chief executive. She gave the name of Carolyn Beers of Greenville, O.

Urges Open Tariff Doors.

Williams Grove, Pa., Aug. 30.—Governor Woodrow Wilson fired his opening gun here in his campaign for the presidency. Addressing the farmers gathered here for the meeting of the Pennsylvania state grange, the Democratic nominee appealed for support upon the tariff plank in his platform. He promised economic reforms not only beneficial to the farmer but to all.

He said in part:
"If our markets are not multiplied and our doors are not thrown open, I do not see how the farmer and most of the rest of us are to avoid being overwhelmed by the rising tide of domestic prices. We are told that prices are rising the world over, but if you look into the matter you will find that it is not so. They are rising in high tariff countries, but not in low tariff countries.

SEPTEMBER TERM TO BE BUSY ONE

FRIDAY LAST SERVICE DAY
JUDGE HEARD TO PRESIDE
OVER MURDER CASES.

Next Friday will be the last day of service on cases to be tried at the September term of the Lee county circuit court, and attorneys are now getting bills and declarations for filing before that time. The term, at which Judge O. E. of Freeport will preside, will be an exceptionally busy one, a large number of cases having been tried.

In addition to the common law and very cases, three criminal cases, which will probably require considerable time to try, are slated. Ira Bell is to be tried on a homicide charge, and Dr. S. M. Green of this and Warren Sanders will both be arraigned on murder charges.

CORN AND CLIMATE.

Varieties Adapted to Soil and Climate Will Insure a Fully Matured Product.

By L. M. Smith, Seed Trade Reporting Bureau.

[National Crop Improvement Service.] Railroads, elevator companies and grain firms have at times lost large sums of money by the deterioration of the grain, either in storage or in transit, caused by the high moisture content. From the producers' viewpoint, it has been to advantage to market corn with a high amount of moisture, thus obtaining corn prices for the moisture it may contain. There are several reasons for excessive moisture in corn. The most important, however, is the growing of varieties that are not early in maturing. Large ear corn, as a general rule, requires more time to mature than do the varieties of the smaller ear type. The producer, of course, is striving for yield, and to accomplish this end, it is regretful to say, many insist upon growing the large ear varieties, which, on account of season, do not fully mature except about every third year.

Smaller Varieties.

Very good success is being obtained, both as to yield and quality of corn, when the smaller ear varieties are grown. Many of the varieties produce two ears to the stalk, so from the standpoint of yield are equally satisfactory to the grower, and the grain is far more acceptable to the grain dealers and transportation companies. It is true, it is more work to harvest an equal amount of corn from two ears than it is from one, but the grower should now realize that the time is at hand when the quality of corn delivered at the country elevator will be determined and the price paid for such grain fixed accordingly. Thus, the producer of good grain will receive more than the one who produces poor. Many growers will say that only one price is paid for acceptable corn at their station. This has been the former custom, but the grading of grain at terminal markets on a moisture test basis requires country buyers to likewise discriminate, or their chances of loss on shipments are many. If this is not done, the corn must be bought on a wide margin of profit, so as to make allowance for deterioration in transit or discount at terminal market because of excessive moisture content.

Testing for Moisture.

Many country dealers are now using moisture testing machines which are made according to specifications furnished by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. If your dealer is not using one of these machines, you should insist upon his installing one and testing your corn. If the corn is dry and of good quality, you should receive a correspondingly good price. Your chances of getting just prices are good, so by all means, when marketing your corn, insist upon having the test.

CORN PROCLAMATION.

A Week Should Be Set Aside in All of the Corn Growing States for Selecting Seed Corn.

[National Crop Improvement Service.] The Crop Improvement Committee has arranged with the Governors of eighteen states, including the corn-growing states, to issue some time in September or October, according to the latitude of the state, a proclamation setting aside a "Seed Corn Picking Week."

The purpose of this proclamation will be to impress the farmers of the importance of gathering seed corn early for the next season's planting before frost and storing it in a suitable place for winter. This is being one in some of the states at present. It is the object of the committee to let this into general practice in all of the corn-growing states.

COUNTRY BOYS.

[National Crop Improvement Service.] Nowhere are prejudices so strong and so lasting as in the country. The frequent contact with others, the long hours alone, serve to aggravate the condition. The country boy in an environment is prone to follow the habits of thought of the past to perpetuate a social order continually narrows the social on. To correct this tendency more contact is necessary. More things, physical activities, outings, educational trips and general engagement of socializing influences in the country itself.

The best suit you ever saw at $25

Look at the picture.

All the new style tendencies charmingly expressed.

The longer coat—the five button cutaway effect—

The fashionable silhouette.

Yet not a single touch you could call "extreme."

And then—look at the suit itself.

When you examine it closely, notice the fine material it is made of—the superior quality of the lining.

When you see how carefully it is finished in every little detail—

You will understand why the makers so fully guarantee your satisfaction for two full seasons.

But—you will be especially pleased with the price.

Thirty-five dollars would seem cheap to you for this suit.

And it will cost you ten dollars less.

At $25.00 which is this suit's price—you have really saved $10.00.

Saved it right at the season's start.

This is one of the many fall Wooltex models.

If your new garment be Wooltex—whether coat or suit or skirt—

Every PAIGE Motor is put to four tests before we allow anyone to buy it

PAIGE MOTORS—and it's the motor above all else that counts most in an automobile—are built with the same degree of care that the trustworthy manufacturer of cars selling for three or four times the price of the Paige devotes to his motors.

Then, though built with care which seemingly might insure mechanical perfection, Paige motors are put through a series of tests occupying a full week's time to prove them mechanically perfect or find any deficiency, if such exists, and correct it.

An imperfect motor never has gone from the Paige factory to a Paige buyer, and that fact, more than any other, explains the distinguished rank of Paige Cars.

Tests of this kind throughout the construction of the whole car, our careful selection of materials, and the skill of our engineers and workman, have earned Quality Leadership among popular-priced cars for the Paige.

CUBANS DEMAND GIBSON'S RECALL

Charge d'Affaires of American Legation in Havana Challenged to Duel.

FORCED CABINET TO PAY DEBT

U. S. Government Collects Final Payment for Cienfuegos Waterworks, Which Were Installed by a Contractor From States.

Havana, Aug. 30.—Several newspapers here published open letters to the Cuban government asking that it demand the recall of Hugh S. Gibson, charge d'affaires of the American legation, by the United States government. The papers charge that the method by which Gibson collected the $557,000 Reilly claim from the Cuban cabinet was insulting. The young newspaper man who attacked Gibson in the street here, after being arrested and released, has been rearrested, indicted and immediately released on bail.

Forced Cuban Cabinet to Pay.
The Reilly claim was for the final payment for the Cienfuegos waterworks, installed by Hugh Reilly, an American contractor, who was compelled to appeal to President Taft to collect the claim. Gibson went personally before the Cuban cabinet and literally forced the government secretaries to draw a check on the National bank for the sum involved. Even then Gibson did not leave the council chamber, but sent a messenger to the bank for the money, which was then turned over to Reilly.

The papers are filled with insults to Gibson and the Cuban government is making no effort to suppress publication of the diatribes. The greatest insult is published in El Siglo, a paper owned by General Machado, until recently a member of the cabinet. In a large box on the first page, El Siglo prints a "Challenge to Gibson," as follows:

American Charge Is Insulted.
"Gibson, you are a coward. You are a miserable representative of a great nation, who insults the weak. Men like you are not men but insects. Why don't you demonstrate that you are capable of facing a man when you are representing a great nation to a weak one? People will think I have slapped you. This will be read everywhere and it will demonstrate that you are a miserable being, who, in the name of a great nation, insults a weak one and later does not know how to fight a son of that weak nation who throws into your face insults which no man of honor would tolerate. You see that there is no elegant language for you. But I have said this as bravely, rudely and grossly as you have insulted Cuba."

U. S. Makes Demands of Panama.
Washington, Aug. 30.—Emphatic demands upon the Panama government to control the Panama police and put an end to the gross brutality with which Americans—soldiers, sailors and civilians—have been treated have been issued by the American state department.

It was in the execution of these orders that American Minister Dodge demanded the removal of the chief of police, Quijano, and Police Captain Delaossa. In the first case the resignation of the chief was sufficient, but the refusal of the Panama government to remove the police captain will be followed by a more peremptory demand by Minister Dodge.

INDICT STANDARD MEN

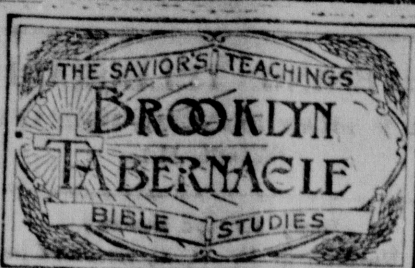

Archbold Hit in Texas Oil Trust Case.

Federal Grand Jury Accuses Legally Dissolved Concern's Agents With New Restraint Plot.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 30.—The Federal grand jury of the northern district of Texas, presided over by Judge W. S. Macey, has returned criminal indictments against prominent Standard Oil officials and other oil men, charging them with violating the Sherman anti-trust laws. The Standard and the Magnolia Petroleum company of Texas are the defendant companies named, while among the individuals are John D. Archbold, New York; Henry C. Folger, Jr., New York; John Sealey, Galveston, and W. C. Teagle, Plainfield, N. J. The defendants are accused of conspiring to break up the Pierce-Fordyce Oil associations in Texas and operating a monopoly.

The grand jury investigation was carried on under the criminal feature of the Sherman anti-trust law with a view to determining if the alleged violations of the dissolution decree of the Supreme court deserved contempt proceedings. The indictment charged unlawful conspiracy, and it is believed contempt proceedings will be brought immediately against the Standard Oil company for violating the decrees.

Sculptor Dead in Mystery.

FAITHFUL UNTO DEATH.

Mark vi, 14-29—Sept. 1.

"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."—Revelation ii, 10.

TODAY'S STUDY includes John the Baptist's death. King Herod had put away his wife, and was living with the wife of his brother Philip—Herodias. John the Baptist in his preaching had referred to the fact that King Herod was living in violation of the Divine Law, and was likely to bring upon the people a war, for his wife was the daughter of King Aretas.

Herodias heard of John's teaching, and was both angry and fearful. Had Herod put her away, as would have been his duty, she would have been a disgraced woman, for the Herods were well known in Rome and elsewhere.

Herod feared John and feared the people who believed John to be a Prophet, but Herodias feared neither God nor man. In deference to Herodias' wish, Herod had John arrested, but even then he liked to hear John talk. All the more Herodias feared the influence of John. The King's birthday came, and she encouraged him to ask to the banquet his principal friends. She dressed her own daughter in the airy costume of the dancing girls of the East, and sent her in to dance before them.

So great a condescension implied that the King should make some return. He asked the girl what he should give her, promising anything, even to the half of his kingdom, and the child returned to her mother for instructions. Herodias had gotten Herod into her net. Now, in the presence of his friends, on his own birthday, at his own suggestion, he had obligated himself to do anything that might be asked. If the daughter demurred to ask for the head of John the Baptist, the mother probably told her that if John lived both of them would sooner or later be outcasts; that his death was necessary.

Bound by an Unholy Oath.
When the maiden made her request, the King was grieved, yet he felt himself bound to comply with his oath. The execution was accomplished, and the head was delivered to Herodias. Alas, poor world! How many are its snares of pride and fear and attempts to increase its pleasures and honors!

In a previous study we heard Jesus' words, that no greater Prophet than John had arisen. We fully agree that he was a Prophet of the Lord, and that he will have a great reward in the future; with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, he will come forth a perfect man, because he was found faithful, even unto death. He will be one of the class mentioned by the Lord through the Prophet David—"Instead of Thy fathers, shall be Thy children, whom Thou [Messiah] shalt make Princes in all the earth."—Psalm xlv, 16.

Those who selected our lesson text evidently overlooked the fact that John the Baptist is not one of the Church class referred to in the Lord's words. "Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life." (Revelation ii, 10.) John will indeed get life everlasting as a glorious portion, but he will not be a member of the Bride class. This honor belongs to us since Pentecost. We quote St. Paul's words concerning the Ancient Worthies: "All these died in faith, not having received the things promised them," "that they, without us, should not be made perfect." (Hebrews ii, 13, 38-40.) We, the Church, called to be joint heirs with Jesus, must get our share of the blessing first, the Bride and the Bridegroom must be perfected in the First Resurrection before the Kingdom can be established, and before the blessing can go even to the Ancient Worthies.

Wherein is the Difference?
If John the Baptist was faithful unto death, wherein is the difference, and why should he receive an earthly reward and the Bride class receive the heavenly? There are several reasons for this. In the matter of justice God could not show any preference, but in matters of favor, as the Scriptures declare, He may do what He will with His own.

Nothing in God's promise bound Him to give John the Baptist a place in the Bride class. The Apostle Peter declares that God foreknew this class, predestinated it as a class from before the foundation of the world; and He is now making a selection according to principles, to determine who may be of this class. He gave no opportunity to John the Baptist to be of this class, but permitted him to die when he had accomplished the work intended for him. None can be of this Bride class who died prior to Pentecost, for there the Holy Spirit was first given, and without this none can occupy the place of sons; those under Moses and of his House were servants.

"The king was exceedingly sorry."

"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."

"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."

"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."

"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."

"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."

"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."

"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."

"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."

"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."

"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."

"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."

"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."

"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."

"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."

"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."

RAILROAD COMPANY IS FOR GOOD ROADS

NORTHWESTERN ASSISTS IN MAKING NORTHERN ROUTE THE VERY BEST.

The Northwestern Railway company has joined the Illinois and Iowa highway commissions, city and county officials, commercial clubs and organizations in the improvement of the official transcontinental auto road through Iowa and Illinois. By the co-operation much of benefit is being accomplished and the official transcontinental route is being rapidly made the very best stretch of road in the country.

Two years ago the autoist who made the record time in his auto run from coast to coast declared that his best time was made on the official route across Illinois and Iowa. If he could make the same trip today he would undoubtedly lower his record as is evidenced by the excellent time being made by pleasure tourists. The co-operative spirit is resulting in the construction of an excellent highway.

The co-operation of the railway company with the good road enthusiasts in bettering the road conditions is in appreciation of the fact that the good roads movement in the various counties through which the railway lines pass is benefiting the railway company in making better roads leading to depots, making it possible for the farmers to more easily reach the railway company's facilities. This is due to the fact that attention is being given to the improvement of the cross line of roads as well as main highways.

Through the improvement of railway crossings, the Northwestern railway company has won the commendation of residents on its line and of the thousands of tourists who annually pass over the official transcontinental route through Iowa and Illinois. Tourists from all states declare that the crossings are in the best condition of any they have ever seen, practically every crossing having been smoothed in accordance with the orders from Vice President R. H. Aishton.

NO U.S. MARINES SLAIN

Reported Killing of 50 in Nicaragua Is Denied.

Situation in Republic Much Improved—Cruiser California Placed Off Corinto as Wireless Station.

Washington, Aug. 30.—Information received from Panama and from Corinto, via San Juan del Sur, by the United States government indicates that the report of the killing of fifty American marines in Nicaragua was a mistake. The report was discredited at both the state and navy departments, where it was added that the situation in Nicaragua was considered to be improving.

Strength in this belief was evidenced when President Taft recalled the cruiser California, which, after unloading 660 marines at Corinto, had started for Panama to take the 1,200 men of the Tenth Infantry to Nicaragua. The marines landed at Corinto immediately took charge of the policing of the port and began stretching a thin brown line along the railroad from Corinto to Managua, which will be reopened immediately.

Messages were received from Minister Wetzel in Managua and Consul Johnson in Corinto, saying that the situation had improved materially. A commission sent by the rebel general, Francisco Vaca, demanded the surrender of Corinto August 25, but was informed that the port is under the protection of the American forces, who would give battle to the rebels should they attempt to enter. Consul Johnson's message to this effect left Corinto August 25 and is the latest information received from him. The California has been stationed off Corinto as a wireless sending and receiving station.

PARCELS POST JANUARY 1

Hitchcock Says New Service Will Start First of the Year.

Washington, Aug. 30.—Postmaster General Hitchcock announced that on January 1 the postoffice department will put into general operation the parcels post system authorized in the postal appropriation bill that became law last Saturday. The government postal express business will be extended to more than a million miles of rural delivery and star route service. The law provides that postage on all parcels shall be prepaid by affixing distinctive stamps. This will necessitate the making of at least a dozen denominations of special stamps, ranging from one cent to one dollar.

DOGS FOR FARM WORK

AS VALUABLE AS TRUSTY HIRED MEN, SAYS WRITER.

American Agriculturists Have Not Sufficiently Appreciated Their Wide Usefulness, Though It Is Recognized in Europe.

In England and Scotland farmers learned long ago the value of dogs to farm work. There the universal custom is to have dogs daily do their part the same as trusty hired men.

Here in America, however, few farmers know the value of a well-trained dog. We are the losers because of this fact. We will learn, of course, in years to come; and working dogs that are a daily help will replace the countless farm help "misfits" now imposing on the farmer's generosity.

It once happened that the owner of some sheep dogs worked them back and forth among flocks of sheep at the same place where many farmers were assembled in convention. The farmers witnessed the work the dogs were doing as the sheep were moved from barns to pasture, through pens, gates and lanes. They were amazed to find them so helpful and wondered at their intelligence. They saw them go quietly around the edges of a pasture and gather in the sheep from far away, while the owner waited at the gate. They saw them herd the sheep along the lanes, doing work two men could not have done. And they profited by what they saw.

They began to believe that the useful dog will eventually be on most American farms, when we get to studying more carefully for ways and means to save work and expense. It may be on some large estates many different men are employed, thereby leaving little opportunity for anyone to train a dog. But on the average farm this is not the case.

Any farmer tired from a hard day's toil would praise the faithful dog that would go the mile or two into the pasture to bring in the cows while he prepared the feed for them.

No reference is made to the dog we find on many farms that knows only enough to run and snap at stock, driving them in whatever direction they care to go. Such a dog is of little value, for he drives the stock away as often as he brings them back to the pen they have left. Such a dog might have developed into a good one. It was the fault of the master that he was never trained. Let no man forget how important it is to have his dog well trained and carefully educated to do his bidding. The green untrained dog is like the unbroken colt or the new hired man. Neither is good as a real helper until taught to do as you wish him to do.—Farm and Fireside.

FAMILY THEATRE

The Four Burns Sisters pleased big crowds at the Family theatre last evening and gave a most excellent entertainment. Their vocal number as a quartet, and solo work was exceptionally good. The young ladies are the possessors of well trained voices which are used to excellent advantage. They are without doubt one of the best acts ever seen here in vaudeville and everyone should avail themselves of this opportunity to hear them.

The other act by Schulte & Keene is a singing and talking sketch.

MOLINE ELKS WILL BE HERE

DISPATCH SAYS LARGE NUMBER OF BILLS ARE COMING TO DIXON MONDAY.

Prospects are that a good sized delegation of Moline Elks will go to Dixon on Labor day to the big clam bake and barbecue under the auspices of the Dixon lodge of Elks. Those who expect to attend will assemble at the Elks' club rooms and discuss plans, as it will be impossible to take this matter up at a regular meeting, which does not come until after the barbecue.

Most of the local Bills will depart on a Burlington train which leaves Moline at 6:50, arriving at Sterling at 9, and thence to the scene of the festivities by interurban. Others will make the trip in autos. It is desired that all who contemplate attending the barbecue be present at tomorrow evening's meeting, as the aim is to apprise the secretary of the Dixon Elks as to the number who intend to go.—Moline Dispatch.

The girl's wide eyes had never left Cayley's face since the moment of her return to the deck with the throwing stick. Through it all—through Fanshaw's hot accusation, and his own reply—through those last words of Tom's, it had never changed. There had been contempt and anger in it, subdued by an iron self-control; no other emotions than those, until the very end. Until the mention of that name—"Perry Hunter."

But at the sound of that name—just then, the girl saw his face go bloodless, not all at once, slowly, rather. And then after a little while he uttered a great sob; not of grief, but such a sob as both the Fanshaws had heard before, when, in battle or skirmish, a soft-nosed bullet smashes its way through some great, knotted nerve center. His hands went out in a convulsive gesture, both the stick and the dart which he held, falling from them, the stick at the girl's feet, the dart at his own. Then leaning back against the rail for support, he covered his face with his hands. At last, while they waited silently, he drew himself up straight and looked dazedly into her face.

Suddenly, to the amazement of the other two men, she crossed the deck to where he stood. "I'm perfectly sure, for my part, that you didn't do it; that you are not the murderer of Mr. Hunter. Won't you shake hands?" He made no move to take hers, and though his eyes were turned upon her, he seemed to be looking through, rather than at her, so intense was his preoccupation.

Seeing that this was so, she laid her hand upon his forearm. "You didn't do it," she repeated, "but you know something about it, don't you? You saw it done, from a long way off—saw the murder, without knowing who the victim was."

"I might have saved him," he murmured brokenly, "if I had not hung aloft there too long, just out of curiosity; if they had been men to me instead of puppets. But when I guessed what their intent was, guessed that it was something sinister, it was done before I could interfere. I saw him going backwards over the brink of a fissure in the ice, tugging at a dart that was in his throat. And when they had gone—his murderers—"

Threw it Far Out into the Water.

"They?" she cried. "Was there more than one?" "Yes," he said, "there was a party. There must have been ten or twelve at least. When they had gone I flew down and picked up that stick, which one of them had dropped—And to think I might have saved him!"

Her hand still rested on his arm. "I'm glad you told me," she said. She felt the arm stiffen suddenly at the sound of Tom Fanshaw's voice.

"Jeanne, take your hand away! Can you touch a man like that? Can you believe the life?" but there, with a peremptory gesture, his father silenced him.

But even he exclaimed at the girl's next action, for she stooped, picked up the blood-stained dart which lay at Philip Cayley's feet, and handed it to him. "Throw it away, please!" she said, "overboard, and as far as you can."

Even before the other men cried out at his doing the thing she had asked him to, he hesitated and looked at her in some surprise.

"Do it, please," she commanded; "I ask it seriously."

Tom Fanshaw started out of his chair; then, as an intolerable twinge from his ankle stopped him, he dropped back again. His father moved quickly forward, too, but checked himself, the surprise in his face giving way to curiosity. At a general thing, Jeanne Fielding knew what she was about.

Philip Cayley took the dart and threw it far out into the water.

There was one more surprise in store for the two Fanshaws. When Cayley, without a glance toward either of them, walked out on the upper landing of the accommodation ladder, the girl accompanied him, and, side by side with him, descended the little stairway, at whose foot the dinghy waited.

"You are still determined on that resolution of yours, are you, to abandon us all for the second time—all humankind, I mean? This later accusation against you was so easily disproved."

"Disproved?" he questioned. "That beautiful faith of yours can't be called proof."

"I meant just what I said—disproved. They shall admit it when I go back on deck. Won't you—won't you give us a chance to disbelieve the old story, too?"

"I can never explain that now," he said; "can never lay that phantom, never in the world."

"I am sorry," she said holding out her hand to him. "I wish you'd give us a chance. Goodbye."

This time he took the hand, bowed over it and pressed it lightly to his lips. Then, without any other farewell than that, he dropped down into the dinghy and was rowed back to the ship—back to his wings.

When she returned to the deck she found that Mr. Fanshaw had gone around to the other side of it to see the sky-man take to the air.

But Tom sat, rigid, where he was. For the first time that she could remember, he was regarding her with open anger. "I knew," he said, "that you never liked Hunter, though I never could see why you should dislike him; and it didn't take two minutes to see that this man Cayley, with his wings and his romance, had fascinated you. But in spite of that, I thought you had a better sense of justice than you showed just now."

She flushed a little. "My sense of justice seems to be better than yours this morning, Tom," she answered quietly. Then she unslung her binoculars again and, turning her back upon him, gazed out shoreward.

"I am getting worried about our shore party," she remarked, as if by way of discontinuing the quarrel. "If there are ten or twelve men living there, in hiding from us, willing to do unprovoked murder, when they can with impunity—"

"So you believed that part of the story, too, did you?" Tom interrupted. She did not answer his question at all, but turned her attention shoreward again.

A moment later she closed her binoculars with a snap, and walked around to the other side of the deck, where Mr. Fanshaw, leaning his elbows on the rail, was looking out across the ice-floe.

"Well," he asked briskly, as she came up and laid an affectionate arm across his shoulder, "I suppose you've been telling Tom why you did it—why you made Cayley throw that dart away, I mean; but you'll have to tell me, too. I can't figure it out. You had something in mind, I'm sure."

"I haven't been telling Tom," she said. "He doesn't seem in a very reasonable mood this morning. But I did have something in mind. I was proving that Mr. Cayley couldn't possibly be the man who had committed the murder."

"I suspected it was that," he said. "It's the stick that proves it really," she said. "You remember how puzzled you were because the end of it which you held it by wouldn't fit your hand? I discovered why that was when you sent me to get it a short while ago. It's a left-handed stick. It fits the palm of your left hand perfectly. You'll find that that is so when you try it. And Mr. Cayley is right-handed."

The old man nodded rather dubiously. "Cayley may be ambidextrous, for anything you know," he objected. She had her rejoinder ready: "But this stick, Uncle Jerry, dear, was made for a man who couldn't throw with his right hand, and Mr. Cayley can. He did it perfectly easily, and without suspecting at all why I wanted him to. Don't you see? Isn't it clear?"

"It's quite clear that the brains of this expedition are in that pretty head of yours," he said. "Yes, I think you're right." Then, after a pause, he added, with an enigmatical look at her: "Don't be too hard on Tom, my dear, because you see the circumstances are hard enough on him already."

She made a little gesture of impatience. "They're not half as hard on him as they are on Mr. Cayley."

"Oh, I don't know," the old gentleman answered. "Take it by and large, I should say that Cayley was playing in luck."

CHAPTER VI.

Tom's Confession.

At intervals during the day those enigmatical words of Mr. Fanshaw's recurred to the girl with the reflection that they wanted serious thinking over, at the first convenient opportunity. But the day wore away and the opportunity did not appear.

The captain of the yacht—his name was Warner—was on shore in command of the searching party, but the first officer, Mr. Scales, remained on board. He was in possession of all the data, though they had not told him the story of Philip Cayley's old relation with the murdered man.

"It stands to reason," he said, "that the only party of white men that could be here would be the survivors of the Fielding expedition. We know from the news that young Mr. Fanshaw brought aboard that there is one such survivor here. If there were any considerable number of them left, able-bodied enough to walk across the glacier, we could be sure they'd be here on the shore waiting for us. We could be certain they would have made some attempt to signal us as soon as they sighted us."

"If they weren't white men but Indians—Chucotes—they'd have been quite as glad as white men to get a chance to go back with us as far as St. Michaels. And in the third place, if they were not Chucotes, but some strange, unknown, murderous band of aborigines, there wouldn't have been even one survivor of the Fielding expedition."

"Of course that's not an absolute water-tight line of reasoning, but it seems to me there is a tremendous probability that it's right, and that this flying man has lost his wits."

By four o'clock they had decided that, whether or not the sky-man's story might be true, it was high time to send a relief party ashore to find the lost ones.

At five o'clock accordingly, the relief expedition went ashore, and Tom Fanshaw and the girl were left alone on the yacht.

Two hours later, perhaps, after they had eaten the supper which Jeanne had concocted in the galley, they sat, side by side, in their comfortable deck chairs, gazing out across the ice-floe. The evening was unusually mild, the thermometer showing only a degree or two below freezing, and here in the lee of the dockhouse they hardly needed their furs.

They had sat there in silence a long while. Tom's promise that they would keep a brisk lookout against a possible attack on the yacht, had passed utterly from both their minds. It was so still—so dead still; the world about them was so utterly empty as to make any thought of such an attack seem preposterous.

Finally the girl seemed to rouse herself from the train of thought that had preoccupied her mind, straightened up a little and turned for a look into her companion's face. But this little movement of her body failed to rouse him. His eyes did not turn to meet hers, but remained fixed on the far horizon.

A moment later she stretched out a hand and explored for his beneath the great white bear skin that covered him, found it and interlocked her fingers with his. At that, he pulled himself up, with a start, and abruptly withdrew his own from the contact.

She colored a little, and her brows

His Eyes Did Not Turn to Hers, But Remained Fixed.

knitted in perplexity. "What an old bear you are, Tom," she said. "What's the matter today? It's not a bit like you to sulk just because we disagree about something. We disagree all the time, but you've never been like this to me before."

"I always told you I was a sullen brute when things went wrong with me, although you never would believe it," he said. "I'm sorry."

"I don't want you to be sorry," she told him; "I just want you to be a few shades more cheerful."

He seemed not to be able to give her what she wished, however, for he lapsed again into his moody abstraction. But after a few minutes more of silence, he turned upon her with a question that astonished her. "What did you do that for, just now?"

At first she was in doubt as to what act of hers he referred to. "Do you mean my hand?" she asked, after looking at him in puzzled curiosity for a moment.

He nodded.

"Why—because I was feeling a little lonesome, I suppose, and sort of tender-hearted, and we'd been about half quarreling all day, and I didn't feel quarrelsome any more, and I thought my big brother's hand would feel—well—grateful and comforting, you know."

She was curious as to why he wanted the explanation, but she gave it to him unhesitatingly, without the faintest touch of coquetry or embarrassment.

Another letter from our fellow townsman D. O. Fairchild who is at Walnut, Kan. on his farm says that the dry spell was finally broken and that they have had nice rains of late with improved prospects for a corn crop. This is welcome news to his many friends and neighbors here for they all wish David good luck. The lumber for the new barn had not arrived at the time he wrote the letter and he could not say when to expect it. It had left the mills of Louisiana over three weeks ago and was somewhere on the way. He has ordered hard wood lumber so will certainly have a substantial and lasting barn. Will and family are well.

West Brooklyn and vicinity have reason to feel considerably peeved at the management of the Lee county fair association over the treatment their band boys are receiving each year. It seems that the fair is kept going so that it can draw patronage from all over the county including West Brooklyn but that the plums and moneys are used just to pay out to a few favorites. No one will doubt our word that the Fair people are furnishing good music for its patrons when they engage the Dixon Marine band to play during its programs, but look, is it only from Dixon that the people attend the Fair? Do any from West Brooklyn, or other parts of the county ever attend it? Then again you side in with this argument when you say the people flock to Amboy from all parts of Lee county. Now let us ask, is the Dixon Marine band the only good band in this county? Its a very poor county if it cannot boast of more musical talent than simply the Dixon Marine band. True, indeed, they have a good leader, and we take off our hats to him every time, but did not the West Brooklyn Cornet band have the same leader for four years, and received the same instructions as the Dixon boys. Are not the West Brooklyn musicians as intelligent as the Dixon ones or is it that we have not the stand in with the powers that be, like the Dixon band. Letters addressed to the secretary of the Fair association were not even answered. When a person considers this one fact alone the people can very nearly see why it is that one band in a whole county affair is always awarded the plum by this association. West Brooklyn patronizes the fair just as heartily as any other portion of Lee county and they have subscribed for just as much stock, no doubt, as any other part of this county. West Brooklyn boasts of just as good a band as any other part of the county, if not in numbers, in playing ability, and there is no reason that is just and right, which should prevent them from furnishing at least a part of the music during the Lee county fair. We'll leave it to any fair minded person. "Are we not right?"

18th YEAR IN DIXON DR. PRETTYMAN

For over 17 years Dr. Prettyman has been coming to Dixon ever four weeks. What he has accomplished in the time is a matter of history suffice it to say it has made him a reputation that no other specialist has ever attained nor can hope to attain in this vicinity.

His Work Speaks for Itself

The doctor keeps abreast of the times by devoting all his spare time to clinical work in the Chicago hospitals. He is not content to rest on laurels already won but he is on the alert for anything and every thing that will assist him in diagnosing and treating many cases that come before him. In 1909 he had special work in hospitals of London and Edinburgh and is enthusiastic over the results attained.

You Can Depend Upon Him

COLONEL FLAYS FOES

ASSAILS PENROSE AND ARCH-BOLD IN VERMONT CAMPAIGN.

Roosevelt Vigorously Enunciates Principles of Progressive Party in 140-Mile Automobile Jaunt.

Burlington, Vt., Aug. 30.—In a whirl over the Green mountains Colonel Roosevelt put under way his three-day campaign to win Vermont at the state election next Tuesday.

During an eleven-hour automobile drive, starting out from Bennington, the ex-president at half a dozen towns thundered against boss rule, pounded at Senator Penrose and John D. Archbold for their confession of Standard Oil manipulation of statemen and vigorously enunciated the issues of the Progressive fight.

Before a packed house at the theater here Colonel Roosevelt insisted that the third party is entitled to the support of Republicans and Democrats alike who want to see the alliance of government and the Standard Oil broken. The ex-president, who had brought along Rev. Frazer Metzger, Progressive candidate for governor, urged that the Progressive party be put into power in Vermont.

"The whole country is waiting to see what Vermont does," cried Roosevelt eagerly. "If you stand with the Progressives you will show that Vermont is tired of the domination of the privileged interests in our national life."

REBELS DEMAND GOLD MINE

Mexican Insurrectos Besiege American Camp in Arizona to Finance Their Revolution.

Douglas, Ariz., Aug. 30.—Mexican rebel forces have demanded the surrender of El Tigre mining camp, an American property, 65 miles southeast of here. Seventy Americans fully armed, with 100 federal soldiers, have mobilized and intend to fight to protect their women and children.

El Tigre, one of the richest gold mines in Mexico, is controlled by Kansas City capital, and if captured by rebels could finance the revolution. This is the object of the revolutionists and the situation is grave. The officers in command of the soldiers have telegraphed to Fort Bliss for aid.

30,000 VOICES!

And Many Are The Voices of Dixon People

Thirty thousand voices — what a grand chorus! And that's the number of American men and women who are publicly praising Doan's Kidney Pills for relief from backache, kidney and bladder ills. They say it to friends. They tell it in the homes papers. Dixon people are in this chorus. Here's a Dixon case.

Mrs. Emile Bott, 811 College Ave. Dixon, Ill., says, "We recommend Doan's Kidney Pills just as highly now as we did some years ago when we first gave a public statement in their praise. I was rheumatic and most of the pain was through my back and kidneys. At night I didn't sleep well and in the morning was all tired out. I was also nervous and dizzy and my kidneys were out of order. I tried different remedies but was not helped until I used Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at Leake Bros. Co.'s Drug Store. They made me strong and well."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

NEWS OF ILLINOIS

A Telegraphic Chronicle of State Happenings.

LINCOLN'S SERVANT IS INSANE

Eliza Early, Ninety Years Old, Colored, Served for Ten Years in Family of the Martyred President.

Joliet, Aug. 30.—Eliza Early, aged ninety, a colored servant, for ten years in the family of President Abraham Lincoln, and the nurse of Robert Todd Lincoln, was adjudged incurably insane. Born in slavery in North Carolina, she was purchased by a brother of Mrs. Lincoln, and acted as her maid at the marriage to the martyred president. The aged negress left the Lincolns after the assassination of the president and came west in a wagon with her husband. She has lived in various parts of Illinois since.

Double Murderer Threatens Suicide.

Duquoin, Aug. 30.—Sheriff Duncan and Jailer Thetford, who have in their custody George Engel of this city, who is sentenced to hang October 18 for the double murder of his wife and sister-in-law, Rosa Engel, have just been tipped by a fellow-prisoner of Engel that the latter is planning to commit suicide before the day of his execution. In confiding Engel says that he would show the people of Perry county that he was not afraid to die by his own hand and that he would prefer this to being hanged.

Rats Overrun Evanston.

Evanston, Aug. 30.—Any one who can charm rats as did the Pied Piper of Hamelin would be a welcome visitor to this town just now. The rodents have so overrun the place that the authorities have given up trying to poison them and are seeking in Chicago to find a professional rat exterminator. Food sprinkled with phosphorus has been carefully avoided by the rodents for several weeks and the townspeople are convinced that a more effective scheme must be tried at once.

Smokes First Cigar at 107.

Danville, Aug. 30.—William Henry Harbaugh celebrated his one hundred and seventh birthday anniversary and is still hale and hearty. He came to Illinois and to Danville in 1833 and conducted the first blacksmith shop in town at the age of seventy-five years. On his one hundred and seventh birthday anniversary he smoked his first cigar and appeared to like it.
